The United States Survey: Support for the US involvement in defending other NATO member countries

According to the NATO treaty, an armed attack against one or more of the NATO members in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all. As a NATO member state, do you think the US should be involved in defending another NATO member country if it is attacked?

The United States survey: Support for sending American troops to Romania and Poland to deter threats from Russia

Do you agree or disagree with sending American troops abroad to US-allied countries like Poland and Romania to deter the recent threats from Russia?

Romania Survey: Support for Romania's involvement in defending other NATO member countries

According to the NATO treaty, an armed attack against one or more of the NATO members in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all. As a NATO member state, do you think Romania should be involved in defending another NATO member country if it is attacked?

Romania Survey: Support for sending Romanian troops to other NATO countries to deter threats from Russia

Do you agree or disagree with sending the Romanian army to NATO allies to help deter threats from Russia?
